

SNAP FOR LIFE

FREE PHOTOGRAPHY WORKSHOP

Why not brush up your skills at a free workshop with professional photographer and teacher, Shoufay Derz. If you live or work in the St George area, own a camera and would like to improve your knowledge, come along and share the fun.

When: Wed 8 March, 9am to 12noon
Where: JLH Boardroom, Level 4 Executive Unit, St George Hospital
What: BYO digital camera

Places are limited. To request a spot, please email your name to karen@kbart.com.au or phone 0419 622 101 no later than 2 March.

Submissions close 30 April 2017

CAN YOU HELP US BRING NEW LIFE TO ST GEORGE HOSPITAL?

Construction is currently underway at St George Hospital. One of the finishing touches will be a display of beautiful photos depicting the St George region, taken by local community members.

Local amateur photographers are invited to submit their photos for the collection. We welcome images of local cultural significance from members of the Aboriginal community and encourage any budding photographers to be involved.

Selected images will be professionally displayed in the new buildings as a part of a permanent art collection. The best photographer's works will be chosen for a special cocktail event and exhibition at Moran Gallery Sylvania.

Exemplary images may be entered into the Moran Contemporary Photographic Prize 2017, one of Australia's most prestigious awards.

Snap For Life aims to involve the staff and community in the new hospital buildings in a positive and creative way. So join in and help us build a colourful hospital full of local community spirit.

THE FINE PRINT

- Amateur photographers who live or work in the St George area including residents, hospital patients and workers are welcome to participate.
- Simply submit one or up to five original photos of nature or community which sum up the spirit of living in the St George region.
- Full details including photo usage rights are available at moranprizes.com.au

Health
South Eastern Sydney
Local Health District

St George Hospital Redevelopment
Building for the future. Building for our community.

MORAN
Health Care Group

